

A New Way for School Districts to Grow and Advance Educators

On-the-job degree programs to attract, develop, diversify, and retain talent

BloomBoard is transforming educator prep by partnering with school districts and universities to bring teaching degree and certification programs into K–12 classrooms.

Unlike traditional or online teacher education programs, this on-the-job approach allows educators to earn a university degree by demonstrating what they know through their daily classroom work with students.

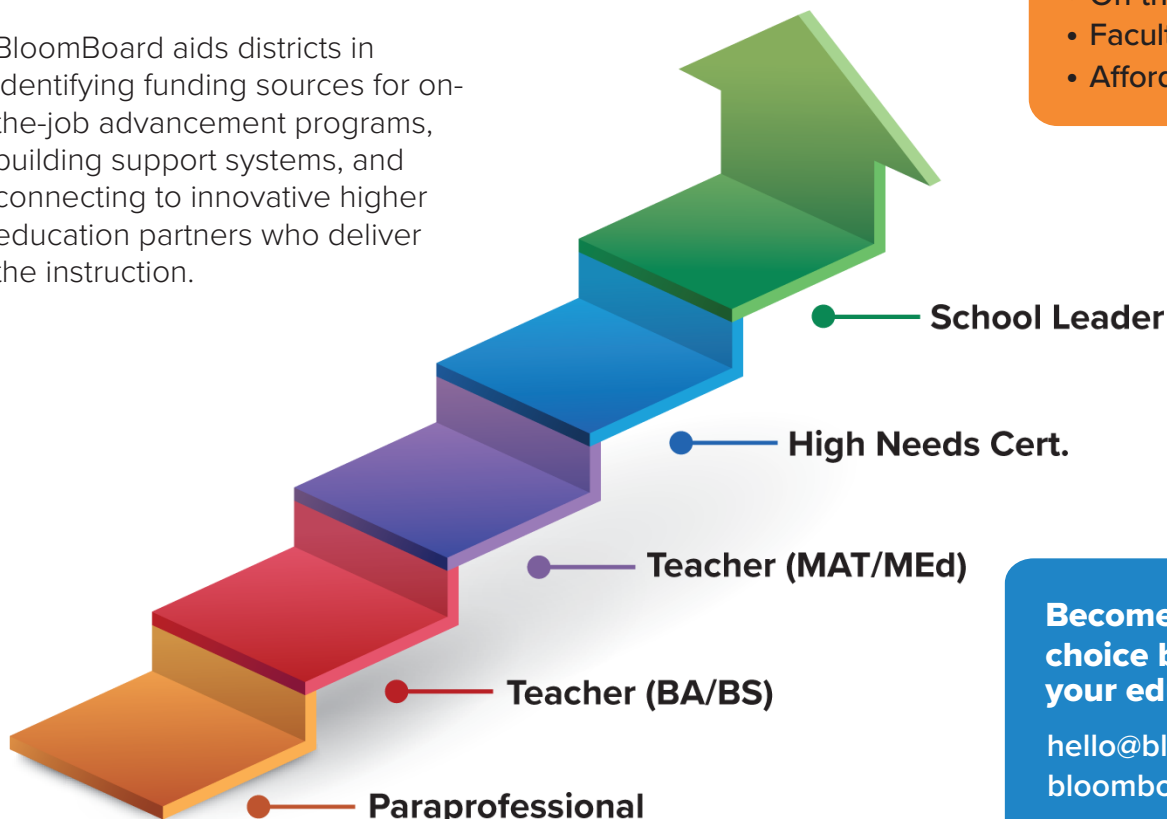

BloomBoard aids districts in identifying funding sources for on-the-job advancement programs, building support systems, and connecting to innovative higher education partners who deliver the instruction.

Benefits for districts:

- Remove traditional barriers to certification and advancement.
- Increase staff diversity.
- Prepare highly skilled teachers.
- Make advancement a benefit of employment.

Value for teachers:

- Relevant, portfolio-based learning
- On-the-job practice
- Faculty support
- Affordable
